

Letter of recommendation

To whom it may concern.

I have known the applicant, Levi Moore Højer, since the fall of 2017 where he volunteered for a 6 month development project called "VR Bully".

From the start Levi was very motivated to carry out the development project and started working on the project parallel to his fulltime study at EADania. Levi served as the lead programmer in a team consisting of 6 members collaborating with an extern company. The project resulted in a unique Android app against online bullying, to the great satisfaction of the company.

During the process I have had the pleasure of working with Levi, who has demonstrated a clear talent for programming and software development. He is a very diligent student, who works thoroughly, effectively and independently as a developer. Furthermore, he is appreciated for his creativity and good collaboration skills.

Sincerely,
